SERGEANT CROWLEY INDICTED. ER. MARTINE ASKS FOR LARGE BAIL-THE CASE TO

Police Sergeant David H. Crowley, charged with issaulting Maggie Morris, was taken before Justice Van Brunt in the Centr of Oyer and Terminer yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus. An Assistant District-Attorney asked that the writs of habeas corpus and certiorari stand over, saying that he held in his hand an indictment against the prisoner which would probably be presented by the Grand Jury during the day, after which the application for bail could be made in the court where the indictment would be returned. Colonel Charles S. Spencer, in behalf of the prisoner, urged the Court to fix bail without delay Justice Van Brunt took the payers and later in the day dismissed the writs. BE TRIED NEXT WEEK.

the payers and later in the day dismissed the writs.

Growley was taken to the Court of General Sessions as soon as it was known that the Grand Jury had found an indictment against him and Barkeeper Blint. The girl had been taken before the Grand Jury almost as soon as that body had organized, and the indictment was immediately found. Colonel Spaner accompanied Crowley and when the officer was arraigned before Recorder Smyth his council asked that a plea of not guilty be entered. Crowley was well dressed and appeared unconcerned. Colonel Spencer asked that his client be admitted to bail in a moderate sum. District-Attorney Martine asked that, if bail were allowed, it be fixed at a large amount, so as to secure the presence of the defendant, who was accused of a crume on conviction of which a penalty of imprisonment for twenty years in the State Prison might be imposed. The circumstances of the case were such that a smail amount of bail might not secure the object in view. Recorder Smyth took the papers containing the evidence given before the Police Justice, and reserved his decision on the question of bail. The case is to be called for trial in the Court of General Sessions uext Monday.

MINISTERS CONDEMNING FAITH CURE.

MINISTERS CONDEMNING FAITH CURE. The Baptist ministers yesterday renewed the discussion of modern faith cures. A paper was read by the Rev. George W. Folwell, of the Union Avenue Church, Brooklyn, in which he said that Christ did not authorize the foundation of faith cure institutions, and that he did not ordain men to care by faith.

Christ did not authorize the foundain men to cure by faith.

The Rev. R. W. Hartley said he believed that there were cures through faith and gave the cure of his wife as an instance. He thought that if prayer was not answered it was not worth while te pray, but he believed in physicians as a means of cure. Professor Norman Fex said that the Mormons professed faith cures, but it was as well to quote those of Lourdes and Knock as the Mormons. The Rev. Dr. Hiscox did not place great confidence in so-called faith cures. There is too much room for mysticism in these cases, the Rev McGreggor said, and not sufficient evidence of the facts.

"To me it appears," said the moderator, Dr. Hughes, "that modern faith cures lead too many to fanaticism and missicad others into trifling with the Word of God. If the advocates are intelligent enough to cure, they ought to interpret the Scriptures accurately."

"I have seen two instances in which the patients having given up medicine for faith cures died within forty-eight hours," said the Rev. R. B. Montgomery, adding, "If these are samples I prefer old methods."

"I have a lady in my church" said the Rev. W. H. Parmiy, "whom I believed to have been cured.

gomery, adding, "If these are samples I prefer old methods."

"I have a lady in my church" said the Rev. W. H. Parmly, "whom I believed to have been cured by prayer. But I believe that those who profess to make these cases are presumptuous. They often frighten those whom they cannot cure, declaring that the devil is in them, calling them bad names and never coming to help them again."

"Yes," exclaimed the Rev. D. T. Phillips, of Brooklyn, "these faith institutions are going up all around us. Some of their managers are the meanest frauds on God's earth. One of them in Brooklyn is the most unprincipled secundred that ever came from England. I mention no names, but every one here knows the reputation of this man."

"We may find an individual case in General Grant, whem the good people all over the centry have been praying for," said the Rev. J. F. Patten.

"William E. Dodge told me he thought the General dad no cancer, but that the doctors were overestimating the danger. We may cure General Grant through prayer in spite of physicians, whether he has a cancer or an ulcer."

BOTH THE BOYDS CONVICTED.

BOTH THE BOYDS CONVICTED.

The trial of Edward A. Boyd and George H. Boyd, two of the members of the class-importing firm of E. A. Boyd & Sons, ended yesterday in the Usated States Circuit Court in the cenviction of both on a charge of obtaining the admission of goods without payment of duties by means of free permits secured by false representations. The firm had a contract for farnishing glass for the Philadelphia Federal Building. They used imported glass from the stock they had en hand and it was agreed that they should import free of duty an equal amount of glass to take the place of that supplied to the Government. They applied for free permits in several cases, representing the amount to be received as much less than the amount actually imported. The permits were made to cover the full importations by the steamers, and the Government was thus defrauded of large amount of money, some of which was subsequently recovered in a civil suit begun by District Automoy Root. The father and son were also indicted on a criminal charge and have been ton trial before Judge Benedict and a jury for three days. Little evidence was produced for the defence. Richard S. Newcombe addressed the jury in behalf of the defendants and Mr. Root made the clasing argument for the prosecution. Judge Benedict made a brief charge to the jury, who after an absence of five minutes returned with a verdict of guilty against both of the defendants.

A metion was made to admit them to bail pending an appeal. The nenalty of the offence is a fine of from $50 to $2,000 or imprisonment for not more than two years or both. Judge Benedict admitted Georgelf, Boyd to bail in the sum of $15,000, but I refused to allew bail in the sum of $15,000, but I refused to allew bail in the case of E. A. Boyd unless Mr. Newcombe supported statements as to Mr. Boyd's ill-health by affidavits, and the District Attorney was consulted.

ARRIVAL OF THE ETRURIA.

ARRIVAL OF THE ETRURIA.

The Cumand steamship Etruria, the latest addition to that company's fiset, arrived on her first voyage yesterday. She was built with the expectation of making the trans-atlantic trib in six days and thus be able to beat the Oregon, but she was more than seven days on her trip from Liverpool. Her officers stated that they did not test ker speed as it was her first trip. On three days she encountered rough weather and contrary winds. The fastest runs were on May 1 and 2, when she steamed 448 and 449 miles respectively. She was the object of much interest to the weatherbeaten sea captains and mariners who watched the huge vessel pass up the North River to her dock at Clarkson-st. Her rod smokestacks towered above the pier. She is of the "gas pipe" model denounced by Captain Bedford Pim, being 520 feet long, 57 feet 3 inches broad, and 41 feet deep, with a gross tennage of 8,000.

Strangers were not permitted to go on board the ship, hat she will be thrown open for inspection on Thursday and Friday. At the office of the company it was said that her engines indicated 14,000 horsepower, and that in a trial trip around Ireland she attained a speed of twenty-four miles an hour; that she had accommodations for 720 first-class and 1,000 steerage passengers, and that she could carry 2,500 tons of coal and 2,000 tons of cargo. She is manned by a force of 300 men and consumes about 350 tons of coal ad Ay. Old seamen said that she would, when carrying a full cargo, draw thirty feet of water and could never cross the bar to this harbor. The Etruria is built throughout of steel with water-tight compartments. Her commander is Captain Cook, the Commodore of the Cunard Rect.

MR. ROEBLING AND THE BRIDGE.

W. A. Roebling, chief engineer of the Brooklyn Bridge when it was building, has written a letter in response to inquiries sent to him by President Stranshan, of the Bridge Trustees, starting that the Bridge could be used without detriment by Pullman cars and leaded freight ears, the weight of which does not exceed thirty toos, but that locometives of that weight by reason of their shortness and the concentrated weight would strain certain parts of the Bridge beyond safe limits. Locometives on the bridge, should, he says, be limited to about eighteen tons weight, which would strain the bridge in minor parts about the same as Pullman cars weighing thirty-two tons. Such a locomotive could draw two Pullman cars or two freight cars up the grade of the structure. Mr. Roebling adds that he is convinced from the experience of the past year and a half that as soon as increased switching facilities are provided in New-York, so that three or more cars can be run in a train, the rope traction system on the Bridge cannot be excelled by any other in respect to regularity, coawmy, average speed, and number of passengers transported. MR. ROEBLING AND THE BRIDGE.

WILL "PADDY" RYAN GET A LICENSE !

WILL "PADDY" RYAN GET A LICENSE?

"Paddy" Ryan, the prize-fighter, asked the foard of Fxoise on Friday for a license for the liquor-store at No. 240 Breadway, saying that he had purchased the place. Commissioner Mitchell was absent yesterday and Mr. Morris wrote the following on the back of the paper:

It is reported that this man, Patrick Ryan, has violated the laws of this country several times and has seemed very anxlous, according to the newspaper reports of the last few months, to repeat his acts by attempting to arrange for one or more public prize-fields. He having such a public record I do not think this Board is justified in granting him a license, and I protest against granting it.

Ing it.

Mr. Morris also moved to reject the application, but Mr. Haughton took up the cudgels for Ryan and after some argument defeated the resolution. When the application comes tefors the Board again Mr. Mitchell will have the deciding vote.

of the company until January 17, when the walls of the proposed crematory, at Mount Olivet, L. I., were blown down; everything was peace and harmony among the members. Since then some have wanted to rebuild in a different manner from that originally proposed. The dissatisfaction ripened into a contest at the election of directors yesterday. There were two tickets in the field, one composed of those who wished to build according to new plans. Thirteen directors were elected, and eleven of these being of the Beugless ticket. The last two are oportion members:

PUNERAL OF CORNELIUS K. GARRISON.

The simple burial service of the Presbyterian Church was read yesterday merning over the open coffin of Cornelius K. Garrison. The funeral was attended by representatives of every commercial interest in the city. Ten o'clock was the hour set for the services, but before that time the reoms of Mr. Garrison's house at No. 40 Park-ave, were crowded gwith his many triends and his relations. The coffin was simple. On it and around it were many beautiful flowers. The widow caused a cross and an anchor in white roses and likes, each bearing the word "Husband," to be placed near the head. Mrs. Van Auken sent a cross in red roses with the word "Father." Her daughters, Miss Jessie and Miss Neilie Van Auken, gave a piliow of reses and likes on which was inscribed "Grandpa." Other tokens came from Mr. and Mrs. John P. Kennedy and Miss Kennedy, from Mr. and Mrs. John P. Kennedy and Miss Kennedy, from Mr. and Mrs. John P. Kennedy and Miss Kennedy, from Mr. and Mrs. John M. Randell, Barrett Van Auken and William R. Garrison. The pall-béarers were Genecal W. S. Haucock. John P. Kennedy, Robert C. Livingston, George W. Childs, Andrew Carnegie, José F. de Navarro, Arthur Leary, Solon Humphreys, Robert B. Minturn, R. M. Gallaway. They all sat near the coffin. In the same room were the widow, her pareats, her children and her grandchildren.

Among the others present were C. P. Huntington, Russell Sage, ex-Judge Henry Hilton, Sidney Dillon, Roswell P. Flower, Alonzo B, Cornell, General Rufus lugalls, Joseph Pullizer, ex-Judge Horace Russell, George Quintard, George S, Nelson, F. W. J. Hurst, DeWitt C. Haves, Judge Andrews, Major Selover, C. P. The services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. George Alexander, of the Un FUNERAL OF CORNELIUS K. GARRISON.

THE BUST OF CHARLES O'CONOR.

THE BUST OF CHARLES O'CONOR.

The marble bust of Charles O'Conor, by James Wilson Macdonald, which was presented to the Supreme Court by Mr. O'Conor on April 16, 1867. but which, as the emment lawyer desired that it should not be publicly exhibited until after his death, was allowed to remain in his possession during his life and was afterward intrusted to Arthur V. Van Briesen, was formally placed yesterday upon a pedestal of black marble in the General Term room. Mr. Van Briesen and Frederic R. Coudert briefly eulogized the distinguished lawyer, and presiding Justice Noah Davis said that Mr. O'Conor was the greatest lawyer that this country had produced, except perhaps alexander Hamilton and Daniel Webster, and that he had stood at the head of the bar of this country. The bust was eriginally presented to the Court by Christian B. Morrison in behalf of the givers, among whom were James T. Brady, Algernon S. Sullivan, A. Oakey Hall, Richard O'German, S. F. B. Morse, Benjamin Wood, ex-Judge Gilbert I cane, ex-Judge John H. McCunn, James W. Gerard, Edwards Pierrepont, Jona Arderson, James Lynch, Henry L. Hognet, S. L. M. Barlew, Elbridge T. WALLING'S SONS IN TROUBLE.

William Cuffe, who was shot in the face and head by Frank Walling, the son of Police Superintendent Walling, in the street near No. 160 East One-hundred-and-seventh-st., while resisting his brother, Edward Walling, a policeman, and taken to the Presbyterian Hospital, is not considered to be daugerensly injured. Officer Walling, who was struck several times by Cuffe, was badly bruised about the face and the bone in his nose was broken into splinters, and pertions of it were removed before the women was dressed at the hospital. He is doing well. Frank Walling, who surrendered himself into custedy after the shooting, was arraigned in the flarlem Police Court and held to await the result of Cuffe's injuries. He said that he was with his brother Edward when he attempted to arrest Cuffe, and from the violence of the prisoner and his well-nown prowess, and the gang of which he was the leader being close at hand and ready to take part in the aftray, he believed that his brother's life was in danger, and if he had not gone to his relief he would have been killed.

NEWS FROM THE SUBURBS.

TWENTY LICENSES INSTEAD OF FOUR.

The Excise Board of Orangetown, Rockland County, N. Y., were in session from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. vesterday with closed doors. Applicants for license left their papers and departed quickly, thirty-four calling during the day. "Dossine" Abram Blanveit, John V. Onderfonk and Peter Morrell composed the Board. Last night it was announced that twenty licenses were granted, sineteen of them being hotel licenses and one a storekeeper. The fees received were $2,950, an increase of $2,350 over last year. No ale and beer licenses were granted and the charge was $150 for hotel license. Mr. Onderdonk voted "No" on every application and refused to sign the licenses. He is yet sore over the horsewhipping affair and is bitterly opposed to the rum men. The receipts will cover entirely the poor expenses for the year, and the village people are generally pleased with the action of Commissioners Blauveit and Morrell. Lawrence McMahon and James Sarvent, who were tried some time ago for violating the excise laws, were refused a license, and many of the smaller dens will be closed. There was a marked difference in the meeting yesterday and that of syear ago when the whole village was in a commotion, and when only four licenses were granted. TWENTY LICENSES INSTEAD OF FOUR.

MR. QUARITCH'S HATS.

From The St. James's Gazette.

Some time ago a sensational paragraph in one of the newspapers gave a weakly facetious description of the hat worn by the worthy bibliopole, Mr. Bernard Quarich, in the sales-rooms, at those contests in which he has so nebly sustained the honor of England, his adopted country. The description of the well-known old hat was followed by a wholy imaginary and quite false story of an attempt to chaffer with the owner of the hat for its purchase at prices mounting up to some two pounds. I cannot say this story was even ben trovato, it was so singularly unlike the man. Our great old-book-seiler might, insied, rising to the dignity of the occasion, bid his thousands for some rare, rare book; but chaffer over his own old garments! No, sir; he is not that sort of man.

bid his thousands for some rare, rare book; but charler over his own oil garments! No, sir; he is not that sort of man.

It is because this silly paragraph has been copied into many English papers and even into the American and colonial press, that I ask leave to state that the story is not true; he such bargaining ever took place, even in lest. The matter is indeed very trival; but it is well to be accurate even in trifles. The truth is as follows. Mr. Quaritch has three hats:

No. I is the well-known, famous so-called "fighting hat," aged lifteen years. This veteran is the one worn in so many battles for books, and it will ever be distinguished as the hat of the Sanderland sale—the thirty-five thousand pounder. This curious and interesting treasure is in a glass case.

No. 2 is a worthy successor to No. 1—a, so to say, mediaval hat, about ten years oid, worn at the Beckford and Syston Park saies; a hat of already good performance and of much promise for the future.

No. 3 is known as the New Hat. It is rising eight years only, a smart young thing, but not yet worthy of serious historic notice.

I again apologize for writing about such a thing as a bookseller's hat; but since the subject has been introduced, it is surely well to have facts and truths. For mysoif, sir, I have never attributed Mr. Quaritch's success allogether to his "fighting hat." I have always thought there was something underneath the hat; but so more on that head.

Mr. Quaritch is sixty-six this day, and, perhaps, sir, you and some of your readers will join with me in wishing him many happy returns of St. George's Day, that he may quite wear out even the New Hat itself.

Mrs. A. M. Dauphin, of 1.939 Ridge ave., Philadelphin, is well known to the ladies of that city from the great good she weil known to the ladies of that city from the great good she has done by means of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She writes Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She writes Mrs. Pinkham's recent interesting case: "A young married lady came to meanifering with a everer case of Freispasts and Unceration. She commenced taking the Compound and in lwo months was fully restored in proof of this, she saw found herself nan interesting condition. Induspass of maternity. After ten or twelve days she came to me again, and she was indeed in a most alarming state and sufficed terribly. I gave her a tablespoonful of the Compound every hear for eight hears until she fall gatespie he swoke much releved and evidently better. She confinued taking the Compound, and in due season she became the mother of a fine lisatily boy. But for the timely use of the medicine she believes her life would have been lost."
